EXCURSION STEAMER AFIRE.

Heroic work on the part of her crew and the splendid behavior of her 16 passengers combined to avert a serious loss of life when fire was discovered on the old-fashioned three-deck excursion steamer Grand Republic, sister ship of the ill-fated General Slocum, as she turned into the Narrows on her way from Rockaway Beach, to New York about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Enveloped in a pall of thick black smoke, with the flames shooting heavenward from its starboard side, its siren pulled down to the last notch, the big boat raced to the nearest landing place, the dock of the Crescent Athletic Club, Bay Ridge, and landed its passengers in safety.

Little more than 20 minutes elapsed from the time smoke was seen belching out of one of the funnels leading to the main deck, until the thankful passengers were hugging each other on shore, but so rapidly did the fire burn that in that short interval it had eaten its way through the three decks, completely destroying about 15 or 20 feet of the boat just abaft amidships on the starboard side.

The fire started in the cook's galley and shot up through the old paddlebox, the latter giving it all the ventilation it needed. Before it was extinguished by the crew and several score of Brooklyn firemen, it did about $5,000 damage.

Fortunately, there was only a handful of people on the boat, and, with the exception of three women who became hysterical, they all kept their senses and followed the instructions given them by the crew.

Had the fire broken out a few hours earlier when the boat was conveying 2,000 persons, mostly women and children, from New York to Rockaway Beach, it is almost a certainty that there would have been a sea tragedy paralleling the burning of the General Slocum six years ago.

More than 1,000 lives were lost when the latter boat burned up in the East river that fateful summer day.

The shrieking of the Grand Republic's whistles started scores of craft of all kinds racing toward her at top speed to render aid.

The noise brought thousands to the windows and roofs of skyscrapers, and it didn't take them a great while to discern the smoke-hidden excursion boat speeding toward the Brooklyn side in an effort to make a landing. Field glasses made it an easy matter to distinguish the name of the boat from the flag which peeked itself out of the blackened mass, and in a comparatively short time the city was ringing with the news that the Grand Republic was on fire. There was great relief when word was received that the passengers had been landed in safety.

NEGRO KNOCKED OUT.

Charles Thomas, a gigantic negro, walked into the pool room and tobacco store of Charles Wright, at Winchester, yesterday, shouting at the top of his voice: "I'm better than any white man living, and I don't care who knows it."

A hannon, a tobacco salesman, who stood behind the counter, jumped the obstruction, and the negro went down with a blow in the face before he could get to the door. He was lying on the prostrate black, and repeatedly struck heavy blows on the negro's head and face. Thomas was unconscious when bystanders pulled Shannon from him, and difficulty was experienced in reviving the big negro. The negroes have become very impudent since the Reno fight returns were learned, and there have been many minor clashes between members of the races.

As a result of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, the younger element of negroes in Winchester is causing trouble. Milton Montgomery, a negro, is in jail charged with making insulting remarks to Miss Ruth Sanford, daughter of Charles R. Sanford, a well-known citizen. Miss Sanford and several girl companions were returning from a party late Tuesday night when the negro jumped from behind a porch and seized Miss Sanford. The screams of the young woman frightened the negro off. He was captured later.

THE HARRISONBURG MURDER.

Saylor Hawse, the ringleader of the mob that threatened to lynch Pink Barber on Monday, was fined $20 and costs in the Police Court at Harrisonburg, Va., yesterday. Hawse lives near Edom, Rockingham county, and was attending the celebration in Harrisonburg.

The funeral of James Lee, the victim of Barber's bullet, was held yesterday morning.

Pink Barber, the Augusta county negro who did the shooting, awoke from his drunken stupor 10 hours after the tragedy and became very despondent when told that he had killed Lee. Barber says he can remember nothing of the shooting. He says he had been drinking all day and was very drunk. Sheriff Carickoff kept 15 men heavily armed at the jail all Tuesday night to prevent further attempts at lynching. When night came on and the crowds began to leave under the excitement subsided and no further trouble was had.

A special grand jury has been summoned for July 18 to consider Barber's case.

DIRIGIBLE AIRSHIP LINE.

Newport's wealthy summer residents are to have a new sensation this year. The novelty will be a dirigible airship line, the first in America. With his machine already on the ground, Stuart Davis, who represents the Zodiac Dirigible Company, of New York, is hustling work on the big aerodrome where the big flier will berth after its voyages via Rocky Point to Scarborough Beach, at Narragansett pier. It is expected that the air line will be in operation within six weeks. The dirigible was quietly brought into New York on Monday by Davis and was shipped to Newport at once. Just as soon as the first aerodrome is ready the dirigible will be inflated and tried out. Already scores of applications for seats have been received and if the plan proves successful the company will duplicate its venture at other summer points along the coast.

The Zodiac, as the first airship is named, is 100 feet long and will carry six persons for two hours. It is of the French make and has already made many flights over Paris. A French crew will be imported to run the flier on its early trips.

Like the United States government dirigible, the Zodiac is non-rigid in type, having no metal frame like the Zeppelin. The total amount of gas in the bag amounts to about 20,000 cubic feet. The frame underneath, in which the passenger car is built, is made of wood and steel. The craft is to sail only on calm days. The trip probably will be made within an hour. For ordinary traffic it is proposed to run the craft three or four times each day. The tariff rate has not been fixed. It will be based upon the estimated time consumed in a flight. It is probable that $500 will be charged to charter the craft for an afternoon.
